

INTRODUCTION

In the recent past, a majority of Counties strived to restore the safety and security of their corresponding towns but faced slight challenges in their efforts. However, the idea of installing closed circuit television (CCTV) cameras in major towns will help curb issues like traffic gridlocks, crowd control, crime, terrorism, and general security issues.

This reporting week, the Uasin Gishu County Government laid out its plan of installing CCTV cameras in Eldoret town. A similar strategic move to the one outlined by the Nakuru County Government two weeks ago.
